

Cable tray hanger and rod price

AI Overview

Cable trays with hanger rods typically range from $50 to $150 per 2-3 meter section, depending on material, type, and included hardware. General Pricing Overview Hot-dip galvanized ladder-type cable trays (standard 2.4 m length) generally cost $50-$100 per section for industrial applications. Threaded rod hanger systems for suspending trays, including clamps and anchor hardware, can add $20-$50 per rod assembly, depending on length and load capacity. Stainless steel or corrosion-resistant trays suitable for outdoor or wet environments are more expensive, often $100-$150 per section. Factors Affecting Price Material: Galvanized steel is standard; stainless steel or halogen-free plastic increases cost. Tray Type: Ladder trays for heavy power cables are more expensive than solid or perforated channel trays. Length and Width: Longer or wider trays require more material and stronger hanger rods. Embedded Hardware: Some suppliers include threaded rods, nuts, and washers; others sell them separately, affecting total cost. Standards Compliance: Trays meeting DIN EN 61537, NEMA VE-1/VE-2, or NEC codes may carry a premium. Supplier Guidance Ekabel24 offers a wide range of cable trays and accessories, including galvanized and stainless steel options. TheProjectEstimate.com lists standard ladder-type trays with pricing per 2.4 m section. Quest Manufacturing provides threaded rod hanger kits for cable trays, but requires a custom quote for embedded systems. McMaster-Carr supplies corrosion-resistant trays and hanging hardware, suitable for custom configurations. For an exact price of a cable tray with embedded hanger rods, it is recommended to contact suppliers directly with specifications such as tray length, width, material, and load requirements, as prices vary by region and project scale.
