

High-quality 12-core bundled pigtail

AI Overview

12-core bundled fiber optic pigtails offer high-density, low-loss, and pre-terminated solutions for efficient splicing and reliable network performance.

Key Features

- Fiber Type: Available in single-mode (G652D/G657A, OS2) and multimode (OM1-OM4, OM3/OM4 50/125 μ m), supporting a wide range of telecom, data center, and FTTH applications.
- Connectors: Multiple termination options including SC, LC, FC, ST, MTRJ, and APC/UPC variants for low back reflection and high signal integrity.
- Performance: Low insertion loss (≤ 0.3 dB typical) and high return loss (UPC ≥ 50 dB, APC ≥ 60 dB) ensure minimal signal degradation and reliable transmission.
- Cable Design: Tight-buffered 0.9mm fibers in a fan-out or bundled configuration allow easy splicing, mechanical durability, and efficient cable management.
- Color Coding: Each fiber is color-coded according to TIA-598 standards, simplifying identification and reducing installation errors.
- Pre-Terminated: Factory-terminated and fully inspected, enabling quick deployment with minimal on-site preparation.

Applications

- Data Centers: High-density splicing in patch panels and optical distribution frames (ODFs) for fast network expansion.
- Telecom Networks: Backbone, 5G fronthaul/backhaul, and FTTH/PON networks requiring low-latency, high-quality connections.
- CATV and DWDM Systems: Precise signal distribution with minimal back reflection.
- Enterprise Networks: Reliable connectivity for critical links in high-performance environments.

Advantages

- Ease of Installation: Pre-terminated bundles reduce field termination time and simplify splicing or docking.
- Durability: High-quality materials and structural design ensure long-term reliability and resistance to environmental stress.
- Compact and Organized: Bundled design facilitates cable management in high-density racks and trays, minimizing congestion.
- Wide Temperature Range: Many pigtails operate reliably from -40°C to 85°C, suitable for harsh environments.
