

Manufacturer of upgraded cold aisle fiber optic cable trays

AI Overview

Top manufacturers of cold aisle fiber optic cable trays include Vichnet, Primus Cable, and global suppliers listed on Alibaba, offering high-quality, flame-retardant, and flexible raceway solutions for data centers. Leading Manufacturers and Suppliers Vichnet offers a comprehensive fiber cable tray system designed for data centers, enterprise, and central office applications. Their trays feature a closed design for cable protection, flame-retardant PVC and ABS materials, excellent bend radius control ($\geq 40\text{mm}$), and flexible installation options including ceiling mounting and cabinet top support. Tool-free assembly reduces installation and maintenance time, making them cost-effective for high-density cold aisle deployments. Primus Cable provides similar fiber cable tray systems with extensive channels, transitional fittings, drops, and support structures. Their trays are designed to route and protect fiber optic and high-performance copper cabling, offering configurability to fit any installation environment. Primus emphasizes ease of maintenance and installation efficiency, which is critical in cold aisle setups. Alibaba Suppliers list over 240 fiber optic cable tray manufacturers and distributors, including OEM and ODM options. These suppliers offer a wide range of customizable trays suitable for cold aisle applications, allowing buyers to select materials, sizes, and configurations that meet specific data center requirements. Considerations for Choosing a Manufacturer Material and Flame Retardancy: Look for trays made from FV-O rated PVC or ABS to ensure fire safety. Bend Radius Control: Essential for protecting fiber optic cables in high-density racks. Installation Flexibility: Ceiling, cabinet, or modular mounting options help optimize cold aisle airflow. Maintenance and Cost Efficiency: Tool-free assembly and modular designs reduce downtime and total cost of owners...
