

Recommended Optical Attenuator Manufacturers in North Macedonia

AI Overview

For optical attenuators in North Macedonia, local distributors like Maksat and Setek provide access to high-quality fiber-optic components and related equipment. Local Distributors Maksat is a prominent distributor in North Macedonia, headquartered in Skopje. They offer a range of optical and broadband solutions, including fiber-optic components such as attenuators, patch cords, and WDM systems. Maksat collaborates with international partners like Teletronik (Switzerland), Optisis (Slovenia), and Helios (Serbia), enabling access to high-quality optical attenuators suitable for telecommunications, industrial fiber lasers, and laboratory applications. Setek is another local company based in Skopje that provides a wide assortment of technical and electronic equipment. While primarily focused on electronics and consumer technology, Setek also offers fiber-optic components and accessories, which may include optical attenuators for smaller-scale or experimental setups. International Manufacturers Accessible via Local Distributors Several global manufacturers of optical attenuators can be sourced through distributors in North Macedonia: DK Photonics produces fiber-optic attenuators, including fixed and variable types, covering wavelengths from 400 nm to 2050 nm. They specialize in passive optical components for fiber lasers, WDM systems, and optical networks, and offer custom specifications for high-power or specialized applications. EK SMA Optics provides variable attenuators for linearly polarized laser beams, suitable for laboratory and industrial laser applications, including femtosecond and Nd-host lasers. Gentec Electro-Optics and LASEROPTIK offer high-performance optical attenuators for precise measurement and high-power laser diagnostics.
