

Serbian Home Electrical Distribution Box Price List

AI Overview

Home electrical distribution boxes in Serbia typically range from €50 to €300, depending on type, capacity, and installation requirements.

Overview of Distribution Boxes

A distribution box, also known as a power distribution or electrical panel, is a central hub that safely distributes electricity to multiple circuits in a home. It houses circuit breakers, fuses, switches, and protective devices, ensuring safe and organized power flow throughout the residence. Distribution boxes can be classified by:

- Installation environment: Indoor (protected from weather) or outdoor (weather-resistant with higher IP ratings)
- Material: Plastic (common for residential use) or metal (durable, often for industrial or outdoor applications)
- Phase type: Single-phase (typical for most homes) or three-phase (for larger homes or high-power appliances)

Price Range in Serbia

The cost of a home distribution box in Serbia depends on several factors:

- Basic single-phase indoor boxes: €50–€100, suitable for small apartments or standard homes
- Three-phase residential boxes: €150–€300, required for larger homes or homes with high-power equipment
- Outdoor or weather-resistant enclosures: Typically 20–50% more expensive due to enhanced durability and IP protection
- Smart or advanced boxes: Units with digital monitoring, remote control, or energy management features can cost €200–€400 or more

Additional costs include installation, which may range from €50 to €150 depending on complexity, wiring requirements, and labor rates in Serbia. Maintenance costs are generally low but should be considered for long-term budgeting.

Factors Affecting Costs

- Voltage and amperage capacity: Higher capacity boxes for larger homes or three-phase connections cost more.
- Number of circuits: More circuits require larger panels and higher prices.
- Material and durability: Metal boxes and outdoor-rated enclosures are...
