

Slovenian Explosion-proof Distribution Box Brands

AI Overview

Jaksa and Bartec are key providers of explosion-proof distribution solutions in Slovenia, offering certified, custom, and industrial-grade products.

Jaksa – Slovenian Manufacturer Jaksa is a Slovenian company specializing in high-performance solenoid valves and explosion-proof components, including integrated junction boxes suitable for hazardous environments. Their products are designed for extreme conditions, handling pressures up to 1000 bar and cryogenic fluids down to -196°C . Jaksa offers custom-made explosion-proof solutions, including Ex e I/II junction boxes, which can accommodate any cable length and integrate thermal and cartridge fuses for maximum safety. They have a long-standing reputation since 1965 for reliability and worldwide delivery.

Bartec – Global Partner with Slovenian Presence Bartec is a global expert in explosion protection and industrial safety, providing certified explosion-proof distribution boxes and tailored solutions for hazardous areas. Their portfolio covers industries such as oil and gas, chemical, pharmaceutical, energy, and food processing. Bartec emphasizes customized solutions, ensuring compliance with international safety standards and operational efficiency in environments with combustible gases, dust, or hydrogen applications.

Slovenian Industrial Design Influence Slovenian industrial design emphasizes functionality, practicality, and modern materials, which is reflected in the engineering of explosion-proof distribution boxes. Manufacturers in Slovenia often integrate these principles to produce durable, efficient, and safe electrical enclosures suitable for industrial and hazardous applications.

Summary For industrial or hazardous applications in Slovenia, Jaksa is a primary local manufacturer offering custom explosion-proof distribution boxes and solenoid valves, while Bartec provides globally certified solutions with extensive cus...
