

Where can I find electrical distribution boxes in France

AI Overview

Electrical distribution boxes in France can be sourced from specialized manufacturers, distributors, and B2B suppliers such as CENCO, Socomec, Legrand, and Wieland Electric. Major Suppliers and Manufacturers

- CENCO (Vonnas, Ain) – Specializes in standard and custom-built wired enclosures for industrial, construction, tertiary, public authority, and event applications. They offer fully assembled and tested solutions, including temporary and modular distribution boxes, with protective equipment from recognized brands, all manufactured in France.
- Socomec (Benfeld) – Provides control and power solutions, including terminal and junction boxes for low-voltage applications. Socomec is an independent manufacturer with a focus on industrial electrical safety and reliability.
- Legrand SA (Limoges) – A leading French manufacturer of electrical enclosures, distribution boards, and junction boxes, suitable for residential, commercial, and industrial installations.
- Wieland Electric – Offers temporary and mobile distribution boxes for events, exhibitions, and construction sites. Their WIV distribution boxes are flexible, pluggable, and available with various connector systems, including RST® and gesis® systems, with options for indoor and protected outdoor use.

Other B2B Suppliers – Europages lists over 200 verified suppliers and distributors across France, including manufacturers of recessed boxes, GTLs (main distribution boards), and covers for pipes and conduits.

Where to Purchase

- Industrial and Electrical Supply Stores – Many suppliers have national or regional sales networks. For example, CENCO provides nationwide delivery and technical support.
- Online B2B Platforms – Websites like Europages and GlobalSpec allow you to search for electrical distribution boxes by city or region in France, providing contact details for manufacturers and distributors.
- DIY and Builders Merch...
